One Another Commands

Romans 12:

- We are to have sound judgment.
- We must recognize the importance of others, that each of us have a role to play.
- We are to be genuine and unpretentious.
- We are to possess a keep on keeping on attitude.
- We are to freely give of our time and money to those in need.
- We are to empathize with others.
- We should avoid narcissism at all costs.
- We are to be peacemakers.
- We are to be self-disciplined.
- We are to remember that our primary motivation is to serve God.

First Corinthians 13:

- We need to be patient when interacting with others.
- We are not to brag about our accomplishments.
- We are not to lose our temper when provoked.
- We are to live a life of hope (being proactive rather than reactive).
- We should be known for our love for others.

Biblical Commands for Reciprocal Living

A. Commands Bearing upon Interrelationships
