

On the figure below, draw the most ridiculous, disgusting outfit you can imagine. Think of something you would never wear in public and draw it.

In each week of this study, you will add an item of clothing to another drawing to show the different things we are learning to “put on.” Today, on the figure here, draw any article of clothing on the person (a shirt, pants/shorts, a skirt, etc.).

On that article of clothing, write “compassion.”

Apply it

Talk through these questions with an adult, a sibling, or a friend:

- What have you learned about Jesus this week?
- How has Jesus shown compassion to you?
- What have you learned about true compassion from the story about Jesus feeding all those thousands of people? (Is it just a feeling we have toward people, or does it require action?)
- How do you want to grow in compassion? Are there any situations in your life where God might be calling you to put on compassion?

Pray about it

Think about a time when you could have shown compassion to someone but didn't. Tell God about it, ask His forgiveness,

STINKY FEET

Yesterday we learned that Jesus knew the Father had given everything into His hands and that He was going back to be with the Father. He trusted the Father, and that helped Him to humbly serve others.

We also learned that Jesus was going to be betrayed. Who was going to betray Him? _____

Read John 13:4–5

In the space below, write or draw a picture of what Jesus did:

Let's review. List the "clothes" we've learned about in the past few weeks:

Put on:

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

This week we will study what Jesus had to say about gentleness. What do you think of when you hear the word "gentle"? Write about it or draw a picture of what you see in your mind:

Maybe you think of petting a small animal or holding a baby and hearing someone say, "Be gentle!" We know being gentle means you're not harsh or violent. But you might be thinking, "What does petting an animal have to do with Cora's situation?"

That's a great question! By the end of this week, we will learn that gentleness is a lot more than just the way we hold fragile things.

Read the following verse. On the next page, write what it teaches you about gentleness.

⋮ A gentle answer turns away anger,
⋮ but a harsh word stirs up wrath. (Proverbs 15:1)

Remember when we talked about a yoke yesterday? In these verses, we get a picture of a weak animal, like an ox, who has been struggling under a heavy load. Then Jesus, like a strong ox, helps the weak one. He shares the load and is gentle with the weaker creature. If you like to draw, you could draw a picture of Jesus helping you carry something heavy in your life:

Jesus is our gentle Savior. He doesn't get angry with those who are trying to carry heavy burdens. Instead, He tells them to take off those burdens and to put on His light burden instead. How does that make you feel?

Sometimes it's hard for us to understand why Jesus has a yoke or a burden for us to carry. Wouldn't it be better if we didn't have to carry anything at all?
